

Haygarth

Haygarth have doubled their uptake of their Payroll Giving scheme in the last 12 months, so that we currently have 42% of our workforce giving to charity through their wages.

While the business has been affected by the current economic climate in the past 12 months and our workforce has been reduced, our remaining employees want to give back.

Over £4,427 per annum is being raised by our staff for 35 different charities, including our charity of the Year partner, Macmillan Cancer Support.

Sophie Daranyi, CEO said, "We are genuinely happy and proud to support Payroll Giving. We are delighted that so many of our staff give so generously to so many worthy causes."
